

The Career Advantage

If you are looking for ways to get ahead in your career, you can stop here. The Certified Professional Estimator credential is the industry's recognized standard of proficiency.

Being able to present yourself as a certified professional give others a way to assess your level of experience and letting them know you have met standards deemed essential to an estimating professional. It provides an element of credibility.

What Does it Mean

If you own a business, a certification can assure prospective clients of your competence and that you have the knowledge to do the job effectively. It increases their comfort levels in dealing with you. Along with a well-planned marketing strategy and excellent customer service, a certification will give you the competitive edge.

If you are looking for a raise, promotion, or want to woo a new employer, a certification may help. Your certification not only indicates that you have been formally tested to have a certain range of skills, but also that your knowledge is current and relevant.

This is because certified professionals are required to seek re-certification to maintain their certified status.

Why Wait?

Why wait? Do something for yourself and your career today. Get Certified.

Applications are available at www.aspenational.org under the certification tab, menu item Professional Evaluation Application. Applications are to be submitted prior to January 10, 2013.

ASPE Certification

Enrollment to the Winter 2013 Certification Cycle is now open.

Applications are to be submitted by Jan. 10, 2013.

